

ARBUCKLE INDICTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Comedian Indicted On a Charge Of Manslaughter

San Francisco Grand Jury Returns Indictment On Lesser Charge—Trial Depends On Outcome Of Coroner's Inquest Now In Progress. Detective Captain Charges Witnesses Have Been Tampered With

(United Press Correspondent.)
San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle was indicted by the San Francisco grand jury today on a charge of manslaughter. Dismissal of the murder charge originally filed against the comedian is expected to result from this indictment on the lesser charge. Arbuckle's attorneys are prepared to attempt to secure his release from jail on bond.

Indictment Absolves Comedian Of Malice Aforethought.
Arbuckle is accused of causing the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, beautiful young movie actress, whom he is alleged to have assaulted during a booze party in his suite at the fashionable Hotel St. Francis on Labor Day. Under the murder complaint Arbuckle was accused with killing Miss Rappe "with malice aforethought."

The manslaughter indictment absolves Arbuckle of premeditation but charges that he "did commit a felony, to wit, manslaughter. The said Roscoe Arbuckle did wilfully, unlawfully and feloniously, without malice aforethought, kill one Virginia Rappe, a human being," the indictment reads. The grand jury, by a vote of 12 to 2, returned the manslaughter indictment at its second session of the Arbuckle case. At the first session it refused to act until disputed points in the evidence had been cleared up. The coroner's inquest was to be continued today.

Witness Tampered With Is Charged
"One of the girl witnesses in the Arbuckle case, has admitted to me that she was approached by a friend of Arbuckle's regarding her testimony," Captain of Detectives Matheson declared today. He refused to say who it was as it might endanger a possible arrest.

Federal Prohibition Commissioner Forrest Mitchell was learned to be considering laying before a Federal Grand Jury the question of where the liquor at Arbuckle's party came from.
During an hour's grilling this morning before the prohibition officer Arbuckle refused to talk. He said: "There wasn't any liquor at the party."

Await Outcome of Inquest
Whether Roscoe Arbuckle will face trial on the murder or manslaughter charge will probably will be determined by the outcome of the inquest today, the district attorney's office indicated.

If the coroner's jury find the life of Miss Rappe was taken in the wil-

CONVICT MAKES DARING ESCAPE FROM SING SING

Saws Cell Bars—Gains Roof—Slides Wire To Ground And Freedom

DOVE INTO HUDSON AND SWAM AWAY

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Joseph Sorace, 23, made a spectacular escape from Sing Sing prison today before dawn. He sawed through the bars of his cell, broke the lock on a trap door to the roof, slid down a frail telephone wire 70 feet to the ground, sealed the walls, dove into the Hudson and swam to freedom.

First Escape In Forty Years.

It is not believed possible that Sorace could have crossed the Hudson. Guards think he swam a short distance up or down the river and then came ashore and went in hiding. The escape is the first in forty years from the roof. Sorace, who is 23 years old, was serving a ten year sentence for manslaughter and would have been released in 1927, counting time off for good behavior.

IRISH REPLY IS FAVORABLE TO A CONFERENCE

Much Mystery Surrounds The Reply Of Dail To Lloyd George.

By ED L. KEENE, (United Press Correspondent.)
Dublin, Ireland, Sept. 14.—The Irish parliament has unanimously approved the reply to Lloyd George's invitation to a conference at Inverness and has selected delegates it was officially announced by the Dail late today.

The delegates are: Arthur Griffith, chairman; Michael Collins, Barton Duggan and Duffey.

Mystery Surrounds Reply
London, Eng., Sept. 14.—Mystery surrounding the Irish situation was deepened today when the British government after announcing that a communication from the Dail Eireann would be made public at 7 o'clock this evening suddenly changed its plans and announced it would not be given out tonight.

The Dublin Dispatch indicated the communication is the reply of the Dail to the Lloyd George invitation to further conferences at Inverness Scotland, beginning Sept. 20th. The Dispatch claimed the Dail had approved in its reply and had appointed a delegation headed by Arthur Griffith, Sinn Fein Foreign minister. London, Eng., Sept. 14.—President De Valera's reply to the British invitation to a conference at Inverness, Scotland, on Sept. 20th, will be issued for publication at 7 o'clock tonight, it was announced this morning.

The British public today awaited the Irish reply with anxiety. Optimism and certainty that Sinn Fein had decided to accept the Lloyd George proposal for a conference were dispelled by the report yesterday that the Irish courier to Garlock, where the Premier is on a vacation, came for "further information" and did not carry a note of acceptance.

Peculiarity Hard To Explain.

It is a peculiar thing that the names given five animals are of Saxon origin, but those given to meat when dressed and prepared for food are Norman. For example, the words "ox," "steer," "cow" are Saxon, but "veal," "lamb," "mutton" are Norman, but "mutton" is Norman; so it is Saxon, but "swine" and "pork" are Norman, "fowl" and "poultry."

International Court Now a Reality—50 Year Dream

League Of Nations Today Elects Judges And Deputies. An American Named

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 14.—The world's fifty year dream of an international court was a reality today when the League of Nations selected 11 judges and four deputies to the World Court.

John Moore, of the United States, member of the permanent court at the Hague, was elected by the assembly on the second ballot this afternoon. In the first ballot four judges were chosen.

There was keenest "political log rolling" for the positions, the South American countries being strong in numbers and holding the balance of power in many instances.

"MOLDY" WINGERT KIDS OFFICERS AND IS FRISKED

Loses His Pet Bottle And Is Considerably Broken Up Over Loss.

Moldy Wingert has a case against Clearfield county and Clearfield borough if he can only secure an attorney to press his claim. Some time ago Moldy got in the news by the home brew route and turned over to the authorities when pressed for it, a still that had seen better days. Moldy came into the sheriff's office yesterday to renew old acquaintances and while talking about the still the officers got and "the still" they didn't get, got into a friendly discussion with Sheriff Gorman and Chief of Police Hitt. Moldy was telling the officers he was too slick for them and they couldn't take him. Jokingly both officers seized the Mount Zion "chemist" and made a mock frisk for weapons. They uncovered a real weapon too, because Moldy's right hand pistol pocket held a quart bottle containing about four inches of a fair looking moonshine.

The laugh was on Moldy, and he enjoyed it with the rest until he made a demand for the return of his liquor. Then he found it was no laughing matter as the liquor had gone down the sewer and Moldy departed, promising to run "the still" overtime to replace his loss.

SHERIFF OVERHEARS TALK--- NABS STILL

Dispute Over Price Of Corn Liquor Unearths Location Of Boozie Foundry--- Two Arrested

Despite the fact that the 18th Amendment has been the law of the land, in name at least, for more than two years, booze and its resultant evils still appears to have "the pole" as the most prolific source of news. The high price of liquor under present conditions appears to be the moving spirit in getting men to take a chance on indiscriminate law violation.

Many funny situations have so far grown and will continue to grow out of this nefarious traffic and hardly a day passes but has its ludicrous incidents emanating from some angle of the illicit booze business and many a bootlegger or moonshine builder is being confounded and thrown down in the house of his friends.

Court House Walls Have Ears.

This was concretely illustrated at the Court House corridor yesterday. For some time past loads of booze have been coming from the Mt. Joy country, but despite the most diligent search of the authorities the source of supply could not be located.

Yesterday afternoon Moldy Wingert and George Hay were looking about the Court House corridor. They appeared to be in a very good humor or a time, but later on they were not. They engaged in a heated argument finally raising their voices to a pitch which attracted the attention of Sheriff Gorman, who was sitting in the floor. The sheriff listened to the conversation long enough to hear their charge. Wingert with looking him out for a dollar and when he went into details the sheriff got information enough to warrant him in yanking both men into the office, and there he got through with them he lay up enough to warrant him in making information against Clarence Hestling and Jacob Burkett charging these gentlemen with manufacturing, transporting and selling moonshine whiskey.

Wholesale And Retail.

The allegation is that Heberling and Berkett maintained a still in the woods on a farm belonging to Lee and Wrigley on Mt. Joy. Wingert was said to have been an agent or salesman of the concern. He is alleged to have received the moonshine from the manufacturers for $4.00 per quart and disposed of it to the trade at $5.00. Hay is said to have bought a quart from Moldy on Monday for $5.00 and later in a burst of confidence informed Hay of the location of the still. The latter is said to have "slipped" out to the spot "on his own" yesterday and purchased a second quart at manufacturer's prices and upon seeing Moldy after imbibing of his quart charged the agent with double crossing him and demanding

SUNDAY BOOZE HUNT WINDS UP AT CHURCH

"Discoverer" Thought He Located Liquor And Called Police. OFFICER FOUND HE WAS MISTAKEN

Police Go To Scene.

The "Deacon" parked his car in front of the church. Shortly after he had gone inside, Christopher Columbus Gardlock, who, as his surname would indicate, is some little "discoverer" himself, "discovered" a little brown jug in the Deacon's machine. Sensing deep, dire, dark things at once, "discoverer" jumped into his seven league boots and beat it for the home of Chief of Police Clark.

The chief was informed that a rum runner was at work on the South Side and was asked to accompany the argus-eyed discoverer to the scene. The Burgess was also gathered up and the march on Deacon's buzz wagon was taken up. When the spot was reached a poor innocent little half gallon jug was found quietly reposing under the seat of the truck. It did look "a little" suspicious and warranted the investigators in summoning the Deacon forthwith from his devotions. Deacon got out just ahead of the collection basket, so was not so mad until Chief Clark informed him of the reason for the summons. The Deacon went up in the air at once, and wouldn't. He even denied ownership of the jug in his wagon, which when trapped and sampled was found to contain cider. A friend came to Deacon's rescue and said he saw a boy place the jug in the truck just before the "discoverer" made his discovery.

Profuse apologies were made to the Deacon by the officers and he soon resumed his place with the worshippers inside. But wouldn't it grab you, if you were picked up and yanked out of church as a bootlegger. We'll say it would.

SCHOOL BOY RUNS IN FRONT OF CAR—LEG BROKEN

Richard Shade, 10-year-old son of Edward Shade, of East Eighth street, suffered a broken leg when he was caught under the wheels of an automobile on South Second street near the Parochial school about 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

According to the story of eye-witnesses, the machine, which was said to have been driven by Mr. Soulsby, of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., was traveling very slowly at the time of the accident. The boy is said to have been riding on a wagon and dropped off the rear end, running in front of the automobile. He was rolled from under the wheels and a hasty examination showed the boy's leg was broken. He was placed in John Arnold's automobile and taken to the hospital where the fracture was reduced.

"BOOTLEGGERS' BUND" KNOCKS OFF ONE MORE ROLICKING ROAD SCHOONER

The bootleggers and knockers off artists sure do stick together. The local bootlegger bund, hardly rested up from their thrilling experience in copping twenty cases of liquor from a DuBois rum runner on the Fenfield road Thursday night last, received a Macedonian call for help from the Bootlegger's Protective Association, Division No. 1 at Osceola on Tuesday evening to come over and help knock off a couple of coppers the underground wireless announced was coming into that section that night. The "King Bootie" called a secret session of the bund and it was unanimously agreed to go to the assistance of their burdened compatriots.

Some Hikers.

The liquor was coming from Tyrona in two sections one crowd with twenty cases, coming by way of Sandy Ridge, while No. 2 with forty cases, were to traverse the old road across to Madera and into Houtzelle, hence the necessity for aid to No. 1. Our experts were given the lighter job and hiking out on the Mountain above Osceola succeeded in their usual capable and convincing manner in holding up the driver of the booze car and knocking off the twenty cases.

The abandoned car, which bore Pennsylvania license, tag 320-206 was towed to town last evening about 9:30 o'clock and stored away until the owner comes around to redeem it.

'Tis a great game while it lasts, but it is our candid opinion the house of John Barleycorn, locally at least, is about to be pulled down by its friends upon its friends and may the Good Lord speed the day.

Surely "Some" Luncheon.
A young novelist who recently sailed to England to see a dramatization of a novel was given a luncheon before the boat sailed. It was quite a luncheon, too, but his friends managed to get him to the ship. About midnight he awakened and the only light was the light of the moon that came through a porthole. He gazed out of it in fascination for about half an hour, and then rang wildly for the deck steward. What "Carbonating" Does to Ice Cream

ICE CREAM manufactured under the Heathmade process of "carbonating" has two great advantages over ordinary ice cream. It is infinitely purer, and it is much more delicious.

If you examine ice cream under a microscope you will find that it is full of tiny bubbles of air. Ordinarily this is just the air we breathe, never quite pure. We freeze our ice cream in a sterile atmosphere 100 times purer than air.

KEYSTONE

When you buy our ice cream you buy ice cream that is 100% safe. It is made safe by using only the finest ingredients, richest cream, purest syrups, fruit juices, and freezing it in a pure, sterile, germ-free atmosphere. This is a costly process but we believe that you will appreciate our unceasing efforts to give you a better ice cream.

Best and Purest

Our ice cream is not only the purest, but it is the best. Try mixing ice cream and syrups with plain water. You'll find it flat, almost unpleasant. But substitute carbonated water and you'll enjoy a mixture full of life and sparkle. The flavor will be enhanced by carbonated water. So does carbonating enhance the richness and flavor of ice cream. If your dealer can't provide our CARBONATED ICE CREAM send us his name and address. But accept no other. Tell the children where to go for ice cream.

LOCAL GIRL AND FIANCE SLIP AWAY TO WED

Paul P. Snyder, of New Kensington, Pa., and Miss Gussie V. Wilson of Clearfield, surprised their many friends by slipping quietly out to Shiloh last evening and having Rev. McCoy, of Bigler, say the words which made them man and wife.

The young people were assisted in making their arrangements by the groom's friends Messrs Moe Robinson and Chief of Police Hitt. The wedding party journeyed to Woodland in search of a minister and finding none at home went on to Bigler when they arrived at Rev. McCoy's home they found the reverend gentleman was conducting services at Shiloh and the intervening five miles to Shiloh were soon clicked off. Rev. McCoy made short work of the job and the happy party were soon on their way back to Clearfield.

The bride is one of Clearfield's charming and accomplished young ladies with a host of friends hereabouts who wish her and her husband all the joys and none of the trials of married life. The groom is a fine young man and was formerly located here as a State Trooper.

L. J. Billingsley, division manager, and J. E. Sweeney, of Harrisburg, with H. M. Peek, local manager of the Bell Telephone company, were guests of Senator Clark at his camp, "Joss-Win" near Glen Campbell on Tuesday. A very enjoyable day was spent.

Art is No Recreation.
Art, properly so-called, is no recreation; it cannot be learned at spare moments, nor pursued when we have nothing better to do. It is no handiwork for drawing-room tables, no relief of the ennui of boudoirs; it must be understood and undertaken seriously, or not at all.—Modern Painters, John Ruskin.

Your coal for the Winter will cost you 38 per cent less

IF YOU BURN IT IN

THE United States Government statistics show that a bushel of soft coal contains within six per cent as many heat units as a bushel of hard coal.

Hard Coal	6% Volatile Gas and 82% Coke
Total	88% Heating Power
Soft Coal	38% Volatile Gas and 44% Coke
Total	82% Heating Power

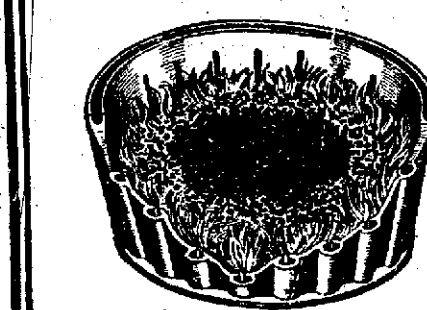

The same authority also states that in the ordinary stoves 38% of the heat units of soft coal pass up the chimney in the form of smoke and gas and are wasted.

THE ORIGINAL
Moore's Air Tight Heater

MOORE'S AIR TIGHT HEATER WILL SAVE THE 38%
Because it has the MOORE'S ANTI-CARBON FLUED FIRE-POT which continually admits air all around the burning coal, so that all the volatile gas is ignited and converted into heat, thus saving the 38% of fuel which in ordinary stoves is wasted. It will burn slack coal just as well as the best grades of lump.

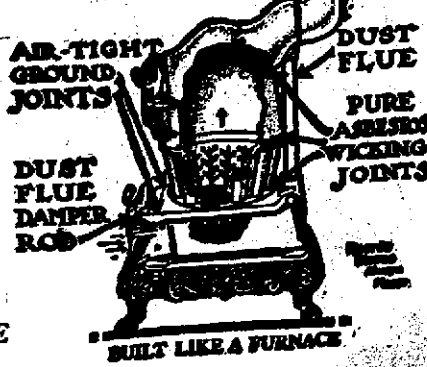

IT HEATS JUST LIKE A FURNACE
Because the air which circulates between the casing and the fire-pot and the heavy egg-shaped dome is heated and discharged at the top, thus creating a circulation of warm air throughout the rooms and making them comfortable everywhere.

THE GAS AND SMOKE BURNING FIRE-POT

- REMEMBER THESE FACTS
- 1st—Moore's Air Tight heats by Circulation. Others only radiate.
 - 2nd—Moore's Air Tight heats the whole house, upstairs and down.
 - 3rd—Moore's Air Tight does not injure furniture. It keeps the floor warm. A blessing to all who suffer from cold feet.

First Pictures of the Russian Famine

These pictures are the first to reach America from the "death belt" of Russia into which the vanguard of the Hoover relief workers are now taking American aid. The pictures were rushed out of Russia in an airplane by Major Blake, an English aviator, and brought across the Atlantic by special courier. Above, a starving baby lying asleep along the roadside, its wasted body sheltered from the sun's rays by the wagon in which the family is moving in a frantic attempt to reach the edge of the famine belt. Below, the great throng of Russian famine belt sufferers encamped along the roadside in their march to more prosperous land.

"Kick" From the Parsley Bed.

The use of parsley is almost universal in France for flavoring and garnishing dishes, and recently when a sudden scarcity of the green was noticed it was discovered that it was being bought up in large quantities by some persons who were making a substitute for absinthe.

Lines to Be Remembered.
Anger blows out the lamp of the mind in the examination of great and important questions everyone should be serene, slow pulsed and calm.—R. G. Ingersoll.

Queen.

Young Smoother was in a reflective mood in one corner of the clubroom. "When," he muttered to himself, "I compare the one or two creditors I have with the millions and millions of persons to whom I owe nothing, I wonder why in the world those chaps make such a confounded noise about it?"

For Windows.

If you would polish your windows, use a mixture of powdered washing soda and liquid ammonia. Put a little of the mixture on a cloth and polish. The result will be very bright windows.

Immune.

Two little colored boys were arguing about religion. Finally one negro child went to a meeting that very night. The next morning his friend said to the employer, "Well," said the employer, smiling, "did you get religion last night?" "No, boss," was the reply, "I is de one what's done it."

Porcelain in Europe.

It was not until 1708 that a German chemist, Boetger, working for the elector of Saxony, discovered the true ingredients of porcelain, and in 1710 the Royal Saxon Porcelain manufactory at Meissen was founded.

Students Start Today
—Many Turned Away.

State College, Pa., Sept. 14.—With the largest freshman class in the history of the college on hand, the sixty-seventh year at the Pennsylvania State College started with the opening assembly this morning when President John M. Thomas addressed the more than 3000 students.

A new record was established during the first registration day when the rush for matriculation kept the Registrar's office busy until more than 800 freshmen had been enrolled. In addition there are more than a hundred new students in the two year agricultural course. The new students will probably number over 1000, and almost an equal number had to be refused admission during the past two months.

President Thomas Addresses Students. In his address this morning President Thomas told of the great growth of Penn State in recent years and predicted a future that would see the college placed in the first rank of American institutions of higher learning. The college enjoys the good will of the people of the Commonwealth, he said, and expressed the hope that the pride and sense of ownership held for Penn State by the citizens would bring a realization for the need of expansion.

"The Penn State man is the only effective argument for Penn State," said the President. "Higher aims cannot be attained without a worthy student body. I ask you this coming year to shape your conduct, not by the traditions of the past, but by the hopes of the future." He then cautioned the students against the over-indulgence in social activities that have swept through most American colleges since the war, urging the preservation of the democratic character of the college as a State institution.

To the members of the incoming class President Thomas said: "We welcome you today to membership with us and to fellowship in the Penn State spirit. It is the spirit of loyalty, of enthusiasm, of hardest fight and the will to win. If you enter heartily into this spirit you will not find room for anything mean or ignoble, nor will you give way to easy discouragement. Do not try to prove that you are a man by the small-boy method of doing something bad. You will adjust yourself to college most easily if you are genuine and natural, and you will find that every one will respect you if you hold to your principles."

In the course of the address, Dr. W. G. Chambers was introduced as the new dean of the college Summer Session and Educational Extension. Judge H. Walton Mitchell, president of the board of trustees, gave a brief talk and the students scattered for their first classes.

Chalk as a Coal Substitute

By treating chalk with a patented process by which it is blended with a rich carbonaceous material a British company claims a fuel can be produced as efficient as coal for household use, at a price of $3.75 a ton. The fuel has a valuable by-product in that the ash remaining after combustion can be utilized as cement or fertilizer. —Popular Science Monthly.

Little Susy at Church. Little Susy was taken to church by her mother for the first time. During the long sermon the child grew more and more fidgety, and kept wriggling about. Finally she became very greatly interested in a small tear in her dress and, after looking at this absorbedly for a little while, she jumped to her feet on the seat, and to the great mortification of her mother, cried out: "Has anybody in this crowd got a pin?"—Minneapolis Tribune.

PRELIM. PIGSKIN PRACTICE ENDS AT PENN STATE

State College, Pa., Sept. 14.—Preliminary football practice at Penn State came to an end last night, for with the opening of college today, classes will seriously interfere with the daily practice sessions. The past two weeks have been far from encouraging to Coach Hugo Bezdek and his assistants, Dick Harlow, Dutch Hermann, Bill Martin and Dick Rauch, for an epidemic of injuries broke up the combinations that they had tried to perfect.

The situation at present is not very promising. Penn State faces the toughest schedule in years with material that is untried and inexperienced. Captain Snell at fullback should play a great game this year, for he is a regular of two years' standing. Killingner, last year's quarterback, should also be greatly improved this year if he can shake the jinx that seems to be following him. Last fall, he was playing fine football until the Lebanon Valley game when he painfully injured his shoulder, and as a result, he was handicapped for the balance of the season. This year, he looked great for three days, when another injured shoulder sent him to the sidelines, where he has been ever since. Hufford, the veteran end, should be a fixture; while Bentz, center, ought to win back his old berth once he gets started.

In the backfield, Bezdek has few worries for while no candidate has the individual brilliance of either Way or Haines, there are eight high class backs to choose from. In Rittner, the coaches have a good substitute for Killingner. Smozinsky at end is looking better every day, while McCollum will also be a valuable man. But the line is problematical. Baer, Madera, McMahon, Bedenk, Hamilton, Logue and Runser have been looking good at times but injuries have delayed their progress up to the present time. If the line can be brought into shape, Penn State will have a good team; if not, the outlook is gloomy.

THE CHORUS—HERE AND THERE

Since so many producers have lately undertaken to take their productions to London, John Cort, whose musical comedy "Listen Lester" at the Driggs theatre tonight is one of the successes of the season, has been studying the hows and whys and wherefores of production here and abroad with an eye to the future. He declares that in his opinion the American chorus is superior to that bred in old England. "Because," he explains, "I like the American method of picking a chorus in preference to the way it is done over there. There is a sharp difference in the method of building up a chorus and I prefer the American style."

"For instance, in England when a producer finds he needs a certain number of girls for his play, he looks over his list of dancing schools and sends to the school to send him the required number. If he wants classical dancers, he sends to the school that specializes on classical dancing and the girls are sent to him. He knows they can dance and very little time is necessary to rehearse them. No matter what kind of dancing he wants, there's a school from which he can engage trained girls."

UNCLE TOM HERE THURSDAY

William H. Kibble's grand, superb, spectacular revival of that everlasting old play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which will be seen at the Driggs theater on Thursday, promises to be a theatrical treat in every sense of the word. The company this year is bigger, better and brighter than ever, among which are negroes from the sunny South, who have been especially engaged to fill out the many pretty pictures of the play and present their famous songs, dances and plantation "shines." So thorough and pleasing has been the production under the management of Mr. William H. Kibble, that the press, public and pulpit have unanimously sung its praise, and thousand upon thousand have attended.

Utility and Appeal. Of all the liberal arts literature is the most immediate in its utility and the broadest in appeal.—Brander Matthews.

GLOVES

If Jenny and her cohorts expected undivided attention when they focused fashion favor on sleeves, they forgot that placing arms in the limelight gave Gloves an equal opportunity to gain fame. Gauntlets and Mosquetaires are most popular, with embroidery and rippled flares adding novelty to this Autumn's Gloves.

HOSIERY

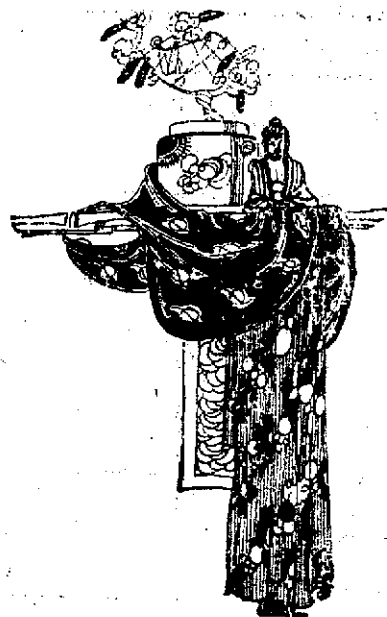

With straps and more straps, and novelty cut out effects on the vamps of Autumn slippers, your Hosiery will be espied through many in-between places and must be good looking. The beauty of quality and sheerness of weave will attract special notice because Fall Hosiery prefers simplicity. New tones are lovely.

BLOUSES

Just can't pick out one feature of the new Fall Blouses to become enthusiastic over, they are so charming all over. Truthfully, designers not contented with lovely fabrics in the most exquisite shades—Yellowstone, Mohawk and Cantaloupe have beautified almost every inch of material with eccentric garniture.

FABRICS

New Fall Fabrics—here is something to be seen and not prosaically described. You must feel them, literally "take in" their rich colors softened by an exquisite texture, wrap them about you before you can half imagine their beauty. Every fabric in our Autumn selections has within its folds possibility of a fashionable costume.

Waists, Shirts, Dress Materials and Childrens Wear
Thursday, Friday and Saturday

We extend to you a cordial invitation to visit our store on these important Fashion Days and view at your leisure the specially arranged displays and the collections of Fall wearables gathered for the sole purpose of meeting fully and completely your preferences. Prices you will find much more reasonable this season than you have in the past.

In the Book of Autumn Fashions it is written: Yellowstone, Pompeian, Mohawk, Bordeaux and Java shades. They're the names of some of the new shades for which artists searched high and low. And color is just one little angle of the beauty revealed by the new mode. Gorgeous hues find delightful parallels in distinguished lines, in novelty of garniture, which this Autumn has snatched inspiration from the Orient, in fabrics of rich texture, in a slim silhouette. In these displays are authentic interpretations of Parisian styles, as well as the most worthy creations of American designers.

FALL WAYS OF NEW FROCKS

Loose panels nonchalantly fling all cares to the wind once it is determined that they are to drop below the skirt, an irregular hemline being the very A. B. C. of Smart Fall Frocks. And sleeves, too, are wide and flowing, set in very deep armholes. But sleeves and panels are Fall Frocks' only eccentricities. Otherwise they are most conservative affairs, straight skirts, wide bodices and one side fastenings. Coat dresses and chemise frocks dominate swagger street modes. Afternoon dresses use draperies to charming advantage.

EXQUISITE EVENING APPAREL

Evening Apparel that beautifully fits into its setting—the ball room, the opera, the formal reception, achieves dignity and majestic charm for having caught just the atmosphere, the flavor if you please, of the Spanish and Italian Renaissance—its delicate laces, rich brocades, flowing draperies and metallic trimmings. These and stunning new effects Evening Gowns have chosen for themselves.

CLEVER TOGS FOR YOUNGER FOLKS

From outfits for little men and women to the exacting wardrobe of the Junior Miss are attractive Fall Clothes which prove that designers of Children's costumes are ever as original and versatile as French modistes. Sweaters, leggings, cap and mittens of brushed llama comprise a dandy set for sturdy chaps and little girls look very quaint in frocks gayly embroidered in Hungarian peasant patterns. Many interesting things indeed to tempt you into visiting the Young Folks apparel sections.

SUITS SMARTLY TAILORED

"Back to suit" seems to be a slogan, origin unknown like many fashion fancies, that will be enjoyably followed by fashionable women again this Fall. It's such an all-around costume and this Autumn's stunning interpretations admit it to high favor in the realm of distinctive apparel. Dovetyn, velour, suede cloth and twills fashion stunning suits whose success hinges not a little on their straight silhouette, agreeably interrupted by a flare in both skirt and coat. Long unbelted coats and swinging box coats vie for favors.

COATS OF RICH FABRICS

To say that Fall Coats are 1-2-3-4 with sub-heads A-B-C-D, would be a most dull way of relating a feature story, but the new Coats are so decidedly different and varied that tabulation must almost be resorted to, to express even their salient characteristics. Very fashionable is the silhouette with rippled skirt and fitted bodice haughtily high collared, and another popular mode inspired by the Russian blouse has full sleeves and back and a belted front. Deep pile fabrics worked up with fur form an exquisite combination.

THE NEW FALL HATS!

Nowadays a woman seems to be judged by her ostrich sweeps—for the "sweeper" they are, the smarter and panaches is partly due to the return of the Picture Hat of black panne or Canton crepe into the military realm of Fall Displays!

It will be an easy matter to select a becoming hat for these new arrivals are so versatile. New colorings of Fuchsia, Jasmine, Pez and Terra Cotta are exquisite. Tricornes and continentals vie with berettes and pokes for honors, and turbans, rich in metallic and Oriental fabrics, claim a large clientele.
